INVESTIGATING AEROPLANE CRASH IN WHICH SEVEN MET INSTANT DEATH

Giant Ambulance Aeroplane Crashed to Earth when it Encountered 100-Mile Wind in Maryland Storm; Five Officers and Two Civilians Die; Many With Brilliant War Records; Others Narrowly Escape.

(By the Associated Press)
WASHINGTON, May 30.—Army officials were preparing today for an unofficial investigation of the crash during a storm last Saturday near Indian Head, Maryland, of the ambulance airplane in which seven men, five army officers and two civilians, met death. The fact that every occupant of the machine was killed makes it necessary that a board of inquiry must depend largely on the observations of distant eye witnesses, in forming its conclusions.

The plane, which had been diverted of its ambulance equipment, was making a return flight from Langley Field, Virginia, to Washington when it encountered a severe electrical storm, accompanied by wind estimated to have been blowing at a hundred miles an hour velocity.

Eye witnesses said the plane, unable to make headway in the wind, descended apparently in an attempt to land, but after dropping to within about one hundred feet of the ground, approached a clump of trees and swove upward. The trees were cleared but as the plane started for an open field nearby it was seen to quiver, turn over and dive vertically to earth. Those who reached the wreck first found all seven men dead. All bodies were huddled close together, some badly mutilated by the engine which had been torn from its bed and thrown backward, cutting the men down like a scythe. Several officers killed wore decorations for service in the world war and both of the civilians were widely known in public life.

Lieutenant Colonel Miller served in the Spanish American war where he won the congressional medal of honor.

Lieutenant Ames, who had been married but three weeks, served in both the Canadian and American forces over seas and suffered a severe bayonet wound while with the Canadian forces.

Lieutenant McDermot served in both the Canadian and American flying forces and was decorated by both governments for valor in the world war.

Lieutenant Penniwell was recently sent here from Kelly Field, Tex., for the aerial bombing operations next month.

Maurice Connolly of the civilians, a native of Debuque, Iowa, was a former congressman and served in the air service during the war with rank of major.

Other machines returning from the field maneuvers were caught in the storm that sent the big ambulance plane to earth, and several fliers narrowly escaped death, one of these being Brigadier General Mitchell.

Solution of Water Problem Is Found Says the Mayor

A solution of the water problem has been found, temporarily at least, according to a statement made by Mayor Kitchens today. Two pumps are kept at the Byrd's Mill spring, only one being used at a time, but with the present conditions, one of these pumps must run at full capacity and the other at a moderate speed to keep up the city water pressure.

This is being done as an experiment and it is believed that it will prove a success. With the reserve pump in operation, sufficient water is piped to the city to supply all demands and to have a surplus to fill the reservoir near the brick plant.

The first water will be turned into the new reservoir tonight and it is believed that only a few nights will be required to fill it. This is encouraging to Ada citizens after the announcement of the serious water problem confronting the city.

War Veterans Honor Dead in Memorial at Normal Yesterday

Yesterday morning the American Legion, Civil War veterans, and the veterans of the Spanish-American war gathered at the Normal auditorium for the purpose of giving their memorial honors to their buddies who sleep. The memorial sermon was preached by Rev. N. P. Patterson of the Presbyterian church.

His address carried the audience back to the days of the war, remembering the men who fell in the three great wars so dearly concerned the program. The entire affair was impressive, proper and will leave a lingering memory of those who died in the minds of the large audience who were present.

BATHING POOL IS COMPLETED

Will be Ready for Use When Commissioners Accept Work.

Water was turned into the new Glenwood Park bathing pool today and it has been filled to its capacity, ready for use. Work on the pool has been under way for the past six months, but on account of various interferences it has been delayed from time to time. Now the contractors are ready to turn it over to the city and the commissioners are confident that they will have it open to the public this week.

The dressing rooms are completed except the lights and shower baths. Work is being pushed to have this completed by tomorrow night. There will be two strong lights over the pool with twelve smaller ones. A diving board is ready to put up and the pool is entirely completed with the exception of the handrails, which have not yet arrived. The installation of these things will be only a few hours work, according to the contractors, Yates and Galimore.

Frank Curry has been selected by the commissioners as keeper of the park and bathing pool. He will be ready to open the office in a few days and the pool will be ready for use as soon as other minor preparations are made. Mr. Smith, commissioner in charge, stated today that the final plans had not been drawn up as to how the pool would be managed and as to what prices would be charged. This will be worked out soon.

The management will keep the pool in an up-to-date condition. Everything connected with the park will be conducted in a modern manner, plans that have been adopted by larger cities being considered. Lockers have been completed, dressing rooms put in first class condition, the pool finished, cleaned and filled with its first water, the diving board ready to attach to its

PRESIDENT STIRS ARLINGTON CROWD

Says Country Has Never Failed to Measure Up to Demands.

(By the Associated Press)
WASHINGTON, May 30.—The nation's loyalty first of all to itself, but never failing to measure up to the demands of an advancing civilization, was pictured by President Harding, as an American ideal today in a memorial day address at Arlington National cemetery.

"American heroes of every war," the President said, "had accomplished far more than the immediate ends for which they fought, because they had stood erect and preserved a shrine for the liberty loving of every race." He declared that the whole nation of America would become an unrealized dream if this heritage were ever sacrificed.

"Our country," said Mr. Harding, "has never failed to measure up to the demands presented to it in behalf of humanity and it never will. When it ceases to meet these drafts it will no longer be our country; it will be, if that time ever comes, the wretched and decaying memorial of another civilization that has crumbled, of another ideal which has failed, of another ambition for men's happiness which has somehow gone awry."

In equally emphatic language the president asserted his conviction that this duty to civilization could be accomplished if the nation took care first of its own integrity.

"I counsel no selfishness," he said, "no little americanism, no mere parochialism, when I urge that our first duty is our own and that in the measure of its performance we will find the true gauge of our capacity to be helpful to others."

"We are met on sacred soil today for a solemn hour of sacrament and consecration, but the soil from whence we come is itself sanctified by the sacrifices of those who lie here, or wherever our flag flies within the boundaries of the republic it is over, and whose freedom and security have been wrought through the sacrifices."

"It will be a tribute today spoken in many tongues and by diverse races. Wherever men are free they are wont to give thought to our country and services in freedom's cause. Where men may but aspire to a freedom, not yet achieved, they instinctively turn the eyes and thoughts of hope this way and they pray that their cause may gain our appreciation."

THE PROMISE OF MEXICO

The comparative calm that prevails today in the Mexican republic is pleasing to the vast majority of Americans. The stormy scenes of the days of Madero and Huerta and Carranza seem to have passed away. The quietude of the present may be but a truce or it may be long continued, but it is far more pleasing to the people of the states than the decade of revolution that preceded the ascendancy of Obregon.

The new president of Mexico seems to be a man of destiny. He has been tried in the most crucial experiences and has measured up to every test. On the field of war he showed himself to be a leader of splendid talents. As a political leader he equalled any in the republic. As president of a mercurial people he is displaying qualities of diplomacy and firmness that presage a better era for the war torn country to the South.

Too much must not be expected of Obregon. The Mexican race is a peculiar race. When the conquerors under Cortez overthrew the Aztec the haughty blood of Castile was blended with the blood of the aborigine, and from that blend has come a race that has never obeyed any rule except the rule of relentless tyranny. From the days of the viceroys Mexico has been an incubating bed for revolution and massacre, and it is not wise to expect a sudden transformation to the arts and ways of peace.

But many hopeful signs appear below the Rio Grande. A better day has dawned however long or brief that day may be. It therefore becomes the duty of the American people and the American government to think charitably of the new order and wherever possible to lend a helping hand. The pacification of that turbulent country is greatly to be desired, and if this nation can help bring about a better condition among the Latins that help should be ungrudgingly yielded.

POLAND DISAPPOINTING

It is to be regretted that a hundred years of suppression have so weakened the capacity of the Poles for self-government. The pathos of Polish history has endeared that unhappy people to all the children of freedom, and when the armistice of November raised Poland from her grave the free nations of the earth were gladdened by the tidings. It was hoped that the land of Kosciusko might soon become one of the great and prosperous nations of the continent.

But Poland is not behaving in the manner best calculated to please her friends. She is showing a disposition to hit every head that appears on her horizon. A year ago a quarrel the Pole began with the Bolshevik brought desolation to the gates of Warsaw and came near destroying the Polish government. The peril was averted in the very nick of time, and when the Red armies were driven to the frontier the world hoped that Poland might settle down and follow the ways of peace. But that hope has disappeared for Poland is raising her skull flag in the valleys of Silesia and by her unwarranted attacks upon her neighbors threatens to plunge all Europe into another war.

It is hoped that the present crisis may soon pass away and that Poland may pacify her militant population. It is hoped that this resurrected nation may turn to the ways of peace and become again the power she was in the days of her former glory. It must be admitted, however, that she has a long way to travel and that the road over which she is passing is not the way of peace.

OIL AHEAD?

The News would not think of setting itself up as a prophet, and certainly not as an oil prophet. The indications, however, that Pontotoc county is to be one of the leading oil counties of the state become more evident day by day. At this time there is a producing territory near Allen, another near Steedman, another near Francis, another near Roff and another near Bebee. In addition Ada is sitting near one of the most dependable gas fields in Oklahoma.

Certainly neither of these oil fields is yet a big producer, but the presence of oil would seem to indicate that not one but several oil pools will be opened soon. In other words, it would be our guess that this county will be more like Okmulgee than like Cushing or Burkburnett. Such a condition would be better for all concerned, except those who happened to have a direct interest in the wells.

That development this summer will be slow no one familiar with business conditions would for a minute question. Money, however, promises to get easier immediately, in fact, reports from the east are to the effect that the tide has already turned, and as summer passes development in this as well as other fields ought to pick up.

President Harding may make a lot of mistakes before he gets thru appointing men to office, but he didn't make any mistake when he appointed Victor Locke Superintendent of the Five Civilized Tribes. That was a distinct public service.

Altho Mr. Denny failed to obtain any publicity till the legislature was in the act of adjourning, it cannot be denied that he held the headlines when he hit them.

The Evening News

Tulsa World: Just to confirm our contention that you ought to see Oklahoma first, we note that the Dallas boosters have declared Coalgate to be the best town in Oklahoma.

Shawnee News: Maybe when the new county commissioners get into office they will find a way to improve the highway between Tecumseh and Shawnee, a distance of four miles, for a good deal less than the estimate of $80,700.

Tulsa World: We have always understood that San Quentin prison was a great reform institution, but we notice that J. J. McNamara, who has just been released after serving part of a sentence for blowing up the Los Angeles Times building, is pictured as parting his hair in the middle.

Thanks, Old Boy.

Stonewall News: With Monday's issue of the Ada Evening News marked the retirement of Marvin Brown and the beginning of Wm. Dee Little, as editor and manager of Ada's thriving daily newspaper.

Mr. Little is no stranger in Ada and Pontotoc county, having been associated with Byron Norrell in the publication of the News at the time Mr. Brown took over the controlling interest, some two years ago.

Besides being a good newspaper man, Mr. Little is an all 'round good fellow, and will spare no pains to boost Ada and Pontotoc county in every way. He understands the people, and knows their wishes in a newspaper way. That he will give them what they would have in the form of a good up-to-now daily is not doubted by those who know him.

Ada, on the other hand, is about the best town in the world for its size, and the business people there will not let a paper suffer for the want of patronage. In this connection Mr. Little is to be congratulated upon procuring his old field back. Little knows Ada and Ada knows Little. Here's wishing both unlimited prosperity and success.

Veterans to Get Special Rates to Tulsa Convention

Capt. S. H. Hargis says the Frisco railway has agreed to make a special rate of one and one-ninth fare for the round trip for Confederate Veterans, their wives and descendants who desire to go to the annual reunion to be held in Tulsa on June 7, 8 and 9. live again the stirring and hard days of 1861 to 1865.

Announcement is also made that it will be impossible for the pension money, due after July 1, to be advanced before the reunion. Captain Hargis, however, says that if the veterans will see him, he believes satisfactory financial ar-

SON'S ACTING IN "THE KID" SO EFFECTS MRS. COOGAN THAT SHE WON'T SEE END

As a general rule mothers are pretty good judges as to whether their children are in real trouble, or are shamming tears for the purpose of gaining some object. Once in a while, however, a juvenile actor really happens and such is Jackie Coogan, who plays the title role in "The Kid" the special Associated First National attraction starring Charlie Chaplin, which will be the attraction at the American beginning Wednesday.

The picture contains one of the most pathetic scenes ever filmed, when the authorities insist on separating Charlie and the Kid, on the grounds that Charlie is not a fit guardian for him. The Kid bursts into tears at the idea of the parting.

Mrs. Coogan, mother of the boy, was invited to a special showing of the picture, and left the projection room in the midst of this scene.

"You may tell me it is only acting," she said outside with tears streaming down her face, "but I know better than that. Jackie would never cry like that unless his heart was broken. Although I know he is at home this minute and probably up to some mischief, I can't stand to see pictures of him, when his heart is being torn right out of him."

She stuck to it too, and has never seen the last half of the production, which carries her son through to the happy ending on a flood of comedy of the brand which only Charlie Chaplin can produce.

LEGISLATURE HAS CAST LAST VOTE

Past Record Made by Law
Makers Will Not be Forgotten.

(By the Associated Press)
OKLAHOMA CITY, Okla., May 28.
The personnel of the Eighth Oklahoma legislature has cast its last vote, yet its deeds still lend atmosphere to even warmer debates than those which were voiced on the floor of the two houses. The last week's pastime in the various state departments has been the holding of individual legislative sessions where the battles were fought all over again.

"Wait until we see what the governor does, say about 15 days, then come around and we may have the hottest story for you you've ever dug out of this old capitol," one will be told after waiting minutes for the door marked "Private" to open and the head of the department emerge.

As does the sports fan live and fight all over again the battle that should have been won, so do the present deans of state institutions fight all over again where he thinks the legislature fell down or where disaster consequently threatened.

Some are found almost contented with their appropriations for the next two years, others are more than satisfied and a few will say they are amply taken care of if their department is left untouched with the veto pen.

Arguments have waxed hot in the capitol this week, usually without an opponent, as to how this or that department has been crippled beyond its capacity of service; predictions have been made that deficiencies will be the largest ever two years hence, and there have been open challenges that an extra session to provide more money will be found necessary.

Those who argue with facts and figures show that the appropriations of the Seventh legislature amounted to $18,345,657.64, including all emergencies, public building, capitol, new college and school fund while those of the Eighth session will total more than $20,000,000, semi-officially announced at $20,467,592.16. Not until the governor has disposed of all bills awaiting his signature will the exact total of appropriations made by the last session be known.

Statistics are then quoted by those advocating the veto pen showing that prices two years ago in everything were from 50 to 100 percent higher, in some instances more, yet the appropriations this year are the highest known in the history of the state.

Added departments, more help, broader service and an extensive building and development program accounts for the need of a greater appropriation, adherents of large appropriations argue. To this the most common answer is, "where is it going to stop?", the same question that was asked dozens of times on the floors of the legislature.

Together with its record of the largest appropriation, the recently adjourned Eighth session almost equaled former records in number of days in action. Some declare it was the longest session, exceptions being taken over one of the early legislatures where the matter of days are disputed. Convening January 4, the Eighth session adjourned the regular session April 2, first the house, then the senate. The special session convened April 25, and adjourned May 21, almost four continuous months of service. This point is also the subject of much discourse by high officials of the state in looking back over its achievements.

Guardians of the state treasury announce that there is not a department nor an institution of the state but who will survive in successful fashion the ensuing two years of work. Four there are of these, directly or indirectly handling state funds, and each has said a number of appropriations were allowed that could be easily pared down and still come within competent functioning power. Exceptions, of course, are made in some departments.

Political party affiliations apparently had been forgotten when adjournment came last Saturday. Despite factional fights that occurred practically every bill of importance, which usually resulted in party charges by members in both houses, there seemed no hostility when the members left for home. Since Statehood Oklahoma for the first time, had a divided legislature, republican house and democratic senate.

Members of the lower house came to the special session with open appearances of exception to statements made against them. On their coat lapels were ribbons upon which were the words "Wolves and Hyenas, Not Congressmen," arising from a statement attributed to the governor against several members of that body. Shortly before adjourning a delegation from this body visited the senate chanting snatches of "When the Roll is Called Up Yonder, I'll Be There," rendering other selections and giving a hearty handshake before departing.

Another incident of the adjournment of the special session frequently referred to is that of its absolute solemnity, devoid of the usual characteristics which mark the closing of a legislative session. "It was the quietest known in Oklahoma's history," is the general comment. Other than participation by some members in a school-boy prank, that of throwing paper missiles made from wadded newspapers, adjournment night was uneventful.

Appropriations granted by the regular session totaled $947,327.65. The house records show 508 bills introduced before it and 425 in the senate. One hundred and six of those bills became laws, 62 from the senate and 64 from the house. Friday, nineteen senate and nineteen house bills had become laws from passage by the special session, carrying appropriations of $2,573,902.80, 54 in the house. Some of these failed of passage.

The governor has 15 days after adjournment of the legislature to complete action on bills sent to him for signature, and not until this has been done will an official total be had. The two major appropriation bills yet lack signature.

NATIONAL GUARD GETS INCREASE

Two New Companies Added to Stat Organization
Is Report.

OKLAHOMA CITY, Okla., May 30.
—In compliance with the new tables of organization prescribed by the military department of the Oklahoma National Guard, a new battalion headquarters unit and howitzer company have been organized. Adj. Gen. Charles F. Barrett announced today. Federal inspection and approval has already been given the units.

The howitzer company has been organized at Durant, captained by John A. McDonald. Byron W. Noland has been made first lieutenant. Both officers served overseas.

A new infantry company has been organized and inspected at Konawa. Col. Bates of the Second infantry made the inspection. Joseph C. Looney has been commissioned captain of the company and Oscar T. Dameron, second lieutenant. The officers and 80 per cent of the personnel are overseas veterans.

New units of battalion headquarters Second Infantry, have been organized at Shawnee, Holdenville, Clinton and Chickasha and have received federal inspection by Capt. Stacey Knoff, artillery instructor. The Shawnee company will be mustered in May 31; Holdenville, June 1; Clinton, June 2, and Chickasha June 4, in order that these units may attend the guard encampment June 5 to 19.

Authority has been received for the organization of another battalion headquarters company at Tahlequah. Major Earl Patterson of the adjutant general's staff inspected the newly formed quartermaster corp at Pawnee Monday.

Reports to the adjutant general's office disclose that the recent enlistment campaign held over the state has been successful and that practically all of the companies are at required strength to attend the camp. It is now evident that every organization in the Second regiment is from 90 to 100 percent of its full minimum strength.

Detachments of the quartermaster corps and service companies of the Second and Third regiments will leave Oklahoma City June 2 as the advance guard of the encampment at Fort Sill of these two regiments. A complete motor train, including ambulances and trucks, will carry the equipment needed for the camp. This is the first time in the history of the Oklahoma guard it has gone to camp with its own transports, according to Adj. Gen. Barrett.

Company "A", Third regiment, at Muskogee, has been designated a machine gun company. This and other changes will require a re-lettering of the companies to conform with the new tables.

The adjutant general's office has received $6,000 additional armory drill pay for the Second regiment. A total of more than $110,000 has been received since September, 1920.

The following promotions and resignations took effect this week:

Sgt. Joseph Prueger, promoted to 2nd Lieut., Company "C", Second regiment, Oklahoma City.

Pvt. Oscar T. Dameron, promoted to 2nd Lieut., Company "F", Second regiment, Konawa.

Sgt. Earl Drennan, promoted to 2nd Lieut., Company "B", Third regiment, Tulsa.

Henry W. Boggess, to 2nd Lieut., Supply company, Third regiment, Tulsa.

2nd Lieut. Homer B. Key, to 1st Lieut., Company "L", Third regiment, Holdenville.

Jennings P. Hughes, appointed captain, headquarters company, Second regiment, Oklahoma City.

Pvt. Cole E. Nelson, to 2nd Lieut., Company "M", Second regiment, Antlers.
Julius C. Darwin, promoted to 2nd Lieut., Company "D", Second regiment, Oklahoma City.
Joe E. Creager, to 1st Lieut., J. R. Grinstead, battalion adjutant, Second regiment, discharged.
Capt. G. J. Casselberry headquarters Co., Second regiment, Oklahoma City, resigned.

Major Howard W. Patton, Ordnance department, general staff, Oklahoma City, resigned.
2nd Lieut. James M. Harrison, Company "D", Second regiment, resigned, Oklahoma City.
2nd Lieut. Bert D. Paine, as signed to company "D", Second regiment.

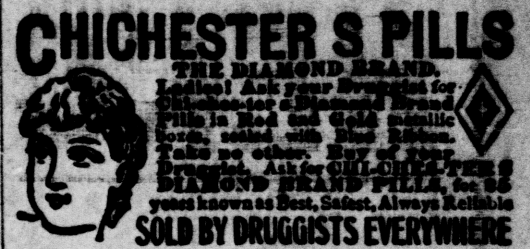

Authority has been received from corp headquarters for one corporal from each battery of the field artillery of the national guard to go to Fort Sill for machine gun practice and school of fire.
Civilian labor is now preparing the camp site at Fort Sill for use by the Second and Third regiments June 5 to 19. General Barrett received an appropriation of $1,800 from the federal government this year for the employment of civilian labor to prepare camp, whereas in former years an advance guard of members of the regiments prepared camp after their arrival. The personnel in this way will be ready for training immediately upon arrival.

American Woman Is Beaten by British French Lady Loses

(By the Associated Press)

TURNBERRY, Eng., May 30.—Miss Alexa Stirling of Atlanta, Ga., American woman golf champion was defeated by Miss Cecil Leitch, the British champion, three ups and two to play in the British open golf championship tournament here today.

Miss Edith Cummings of a Chicago club, beat Miss Isabel Kemp, of France, by 8 ups and six to play.

Miss Alexa Stirling of the Atlanta Athletic club, three time winner of the women's national title of the United States Golf Association, which she now holds, in addition to the Canadian Women's championship which she won at Hamilton, Ont., last year, was born in Atlanta, 23 years ago. When scarcely 12 years old, Miss Stirling learned to use her golf clubs when accompanying her father, Dr. A. W. Stirling, over the East Lake Club's links right opposite her home in Atlanta.

Miss Edith Cummings although not yet out of her teens, figured prominently in the 1920 Western Women's championship. She was beaten by only a small margin in the final round at Oak Park, the winner being Mrs. F. D. Letts of Owensville, to which club Miss Cummings also belongs.

Her father Dr. Mark Cummings, a golfing pioneer, who lives in Lake Forest, frequently played with her over the Owensville links and the club's professional, Willie Marshall instructed her in the fine points of the game.

IT HAS NO EQUAL SAYS SNODGRASS

"Tanlac has been such a wonderful help to me during the last four years that I feel it my duty to relate my experience for what it may be worth to others," was the statement made by Paul Snodgrass, 229 West Capital St., Little Rock, Ark., Mr. Snodgrass has been in the fancy grocery business for the past thirty years, and is well known and highly respected.

"When Tanlac was first introduced in Little Rock, to the best of my recollection four years ago, it certainly was a piece of luck for me, for I was in an awfully run-down and weak condition and the medicine fixed me up fine in almost no time. At that time I had no appetite and what little I did eat seemed to do me more harm than good, for it just would not digest properly and I could scarcely sleep any and always felt so tired and worn out I couldn't halfway attend to my business.

"But in a little while after I started on Tanlac I could eat just anything I wanted and was soon back to my normal health and strength again. Since then I've kept Tanlac on hand and always take a little when I feel the least bit out of sorts. It fixed me up fine after I had the 'flu', and then recently I've been taking it to build me up and have actually gained fourteen pounds in weight. I only hope my statement will lead others to try Tanlac, for I believe it's the best medicine in the world."

FRANCE HONORS TODAY THE MEMORY OF DEAD U. S. HEROES

Decorating graves of American soldiers at Luzancy, France, and (insert) how the stars and stripes and the tri-color of France were blended together over the graves of American dead at Fere-Tardenois last Decoration day.

Decoration day, long dedicated in America to the memory of our hero dead, is not forgotten today in France. The photos, taken last Decoration day, show how France remembered. French and American flags intertwined floated over American graveyards. Americans in France spent the day decorating graves of American boys who had lost their lives in the great war. Today the bodies of the U. S. heroes who fell and were buried in France rest in graves near their homes in America—having been shipped home by the government. The families of these lads who last year were cheered by the knowledge that the French were honoring their memories are decorating the new graves themselves.

REFORMATORY BETTER PREPARED FOR INMATES

(By the Associated Press) GRANITE, Okla., May 30.—Through the installation of educational courses and inauguration of community and welfare exercises, the morale and development of inmates of the state reformatory here has been increased to a marked degree despite an increase in enrollment of almost 100 percent in the last 12 months, according to a report made today by George A. Waters, head of the institution.

Since Dr. Waters has taken control of the institution literary clubs have been organized and a Glee Club and orchestra made up from members of the reformatory. Athletics have been made a part of the curriculum of the institution and courses in farming, truck raising, animal husbandry, engineering and plumbing have been added. Enrollment in the institution today numbers more than 500 as compared with 270 in July 1920, Dr. Waters said, which is explained through quotations of that part of the Oklahoma statutes which provides that all persons under 23 years of age who are sentenced to a prison term must be sent to the Granite reformatory.

When Dr. Waters, a physician, assumed direction of the reformatory, he instituted a theory that a sound, healthful and vigorous body and mind was of prime importance in bringing about reformation to youthful delinquents. Correction of physical defects is one of the first tasks sought and Dr. Waters states that in the last year 38 serious operations have been performed without a casualty and all resulted in cures.

Inmates sent to the institution are entered in the reformatory school shortly after enrollment. This school is superintended by an experienced educator who advances the better educated inmates as assistant instructors. Through this school the debate and oratorical clubs have been started. The Glee club organized and from proceeds of the reformatory minstrel, given semi-annually at Granite and nearby, funds have been raised to pay for band and orchestra instruments.

Old forms of punishment are no longer practiced, according to Dr. Waters. Rather, a system of honor credits has been established, demerit marks given for improper conduct and honor points for literary and educational achievements. Chapel is held every Sunday morning for the inmates while a limited number are permitted to attend church at some of the churches in Granite.

"Attempts to escape from the reformatory, which used to be one of the most serious forces to contend, have decreased to such an extent that they are almost negligible," Dr. Waters said. "The men seem to accept their sentences with commendable spirit and really apply themselves towards making good."

One of the new industries planned for the institution this year is the installation of a shirt and overalls factory. This is considered an added asset in vocational training for the inmates as well as a profitable source of revenue to the state, according to the president. Many of the inmates are now employed in the granite quarries located on the tract, which have recently been reopened.

Small Boy Hurt When Car Passes Over His Body

VANOSS, Okla., May 30.—Special to News.—John S. Sneed, the eight year old son of Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Sneed, who live near this place, was badly injured Sunday afternoon when he was knocked down and passed over by an automobile. The car was driven by one of Dr. Sturdivant's sons, and the doctor was in the car at the time. The boy's injuries are not expected to prove serious, unless some internal injury not yet discovered was done.

According to the best information obtainable concerning the accident, several small boys were playing on one of the streets. The car was making about ten miles an hour, and the driver thought he had a clear street ahead. Young Sneed, not noticing the car coming, attempted to steal a base, and the car struck him. John grabbed the fender, but his hold was insecure and he was dragged down, both wheels passing over the lower part of his abdomen. Examination showed no bones broken and it is believed he is not badly hurt.

PAWHUSKA—June 17 is the date set for the second trade excursion to be made by Pawhuska merchants to visiting communities. A visit to the oil fields is also planned on this trip.

CORDELL—The entire community turned out to the house warming given by Washita County Post No. 134 of the American Legion at the opening of its new club rooms.

GLENWOOD BATHING POOL COMPLETED

(Continued from Page 1) foundation, the manager chosen and other particulars looked after. This puts the park bathing pool in the class of the larger cities and it is a great improvement to the city.

The contractors in charge, Earl Yates of this city and T. M. Gallimore of Cushing, are in the city today preparing the papers with the city and as soon as this is completed the formal acceptance of the work will be announced. City commissioners in charge of this department seemed pleased with the work that the contractors have done and Mr. Smith stated that there is little doubt as to the pool's being accepted.

Park Improvement. In keeping with the modern bathing pool in Glenwood Park, it has become necessary to turn some attention to the improvement of the park and play grounds. With this in view, play ground equipment has been purchased by the commissioners and the work of installing this will be started today. The equipment will consist of teeter-totters, swings, merry-go-round, slides and other things.

Plans are being made for beautifying the park, several trees having been set out this year and other work of improvement on the part of the Boy Scouts being done. It is the plan of those in charge to do extensive landscape work on the park next year, making it one of the best and most beautiful in the state.

Indignant Citizens Howled Speaker From Streets of the City

A storm of protest greeted the remarks of a would-be reformer, who, in a speech at the intersection of Broadway and Main Saturday night suggested that the people of Oklahoma and of the United States "do as the people of Russia do," and only prompt action on the part of the speaker in quitting the city saved him from harm or injury at the hands of the indignant people, it is said.

His first address to the citizens of Ada and community was delivered Saturday afternoon, but no disturbance is reported as having happened at the time.

When he attempted to go further with his remarks Saturday night his hand was called by several members of the large crowd gathered around him. The indignation of the crowd grew as he persisted in making statements un-American and in a few minutes many of the audience were howling him down.

It was through the efforts of some of the cooler heads that Police Chief Gotcher was called on to take the man away. Mr. Gotcher stated this morning that he took the man to the Katy station and advised him to stay there until the night train arrived. The speaker has not been heard of since.

Rain and Hail Do Damage in Parts of State—Rain Helps

Reports of general light rains of Oklahoma City Sunday night brought out a more optimistic view from farmers concerning wheat and oats which, in some sections of the state, have been suffering from the protracted dry spell, according to C. R. Donart, county agricultural agent. Following closely upon the heavy rain of last Thursday, the showers are giving new life to crops, he said.

"Crops in general have been considerably revived by the rains," Donart said Sunday night. "The moisture has done a great deal of good and although wheat and oats will not produce as heavily as they would have if the rains had come earlier, still they are in better shape. Farmers reporting Saturday said that crops are looking a great deal better and any showers within the next week or so will be of further assistance."

While heavy storm clouds hung over central Oklahoma Sunday night accompanied in some sections by strong winds and a small amount of hail, no damage to crops or property was reported. There was no destructive wind such as swept over Oklahoma Thursday in the form of a "twister," the United States weather bureau said, although reports at 9 o'clock showed that light showers were general over the state.

Bryan county received 1.2 inches of rain Sunday afternoon, which was of untold value to the late oat crop which had been suffering for rain, according to reports from Durant. "Volunteer oats are being harvested and corn needed rain badly," the report said. The rain was accompanied by a high wind and a small amount of hail, which did but little damage.

The forecast by the weather bureau was showers and cooler weather Monday and Tuesday.

New Class at Normal Misses Eloise Adams and Anna Weaver Jones have perfected plans for the organization of a class of boys and girls between the ages of 8 and 15 in Shakespearean story telling and dramatics under Miss Adams' direction and aesthetic dancing and plays and games under the direction of Miss Jones.

The class will continue for six weeks and plays of Shakespeare will be taught. Boys and girls in larger cities are given a chance to take this work, but it is probably the first time that those of Ada have had the opportunity to do so. A Shakespearean play, combined with the dancing course will be given at the end of the term. Any boy or girl in the city will be permitted to enter this class.

DEPALMER LEADING IN 500-MILE RACE

(By the Associated Press) SPEEDWAY, Indiana, May 30.—Twenty-three drivers in the five hundred mile automobile race got away today at ten o'clock. DePalmer getting the lead. Roscoe Sarles and Joe Boyer were close behind DePalmer at the end of the first lap. Sarles took the lead in the second lap. Fontaine's car caught fire at the start but there was no damage.

At the 12th lap, 30 miles, DePalmer led and had won a majority of the laps. Mulford went to the pit to change tires and Fontaine stopped to get new spark plugs. Boyer, Sarles and Wilcox were close behind DePalmer as the others were scattered.

Fontaine's car jumped off the track on the 33rd lap, but no one was hurt. The car turned over. DePalmer made his lead at 125 miles, and 52 of the first 53 laps. His average was 93.32 miles per hour, Sarles was half a lap behind with Alley and Hearne following.

Fontaine's accident put him out of the race. DePalmer still in the lead at 150 miles. Sarles, Milton, Hearne and Alley were in the same lap within the order named. It was the first time five men had been so close at 150 miles in the history of the race.

A burst of speed then gave DePalmer a lead of a lap and he won 64 of the first 65 laps. His average for 150 miles was 93.33 miles per hour.

Local Team Knocks Way to Victory in Fast Game Sunday

Another team was driven to defeat at the hands of the Ada ball club Sunday afternoon at the fair grounds park when the Asher Indians lost to the locals by a score of 8 to 1 in a fast game. This was the first time the two teams had met this year.

From the first ball put over until the fifth inning the game was a pitcher's battle. Up to this time neither team was able to gain an advantage and the score stood 1 to 1. In the sixth the Ada boys came back with a slugging rally that was too much for their opponents who allowed them to run in four scores. This was followed by a three up and down play on the part of the Asher team, topped off with another slugging play by Ada.

The feature of the game was the pitching of Lefty Williams. He held the visitors to two hits, one a 3-base hit by Odell and the other an infield hit by Mullins. The base running by the veteran Sparks was also a feature of the game. He beat out an infield hit in the sixth, stole second and third and probably would have made a steal for home had not the batter singled, allowing him to score.

Around the Hospital A very favorable report was given out by the local hospital this morning. No new cases were reported and those now under treatment are all reported to be doing much better. Fred Brydia was able to return to his home today after several days medical treatment.

Aunt Margaret Lee, who entered the hospital last week for gall stone treatment is making rapid progress toward recovery. Her condition today was very promising. The little Kelly boy, who was seriously injured last week at his home in Fitzhugh, is reported to be doing nicely. He will soon be on the road to a rapid recovery. Mr. Ogdon, who has been taking treatment in the hospital for several days, made a successful trip to his home in Wetumka yesterday.
